

Please protect my fair use rights and do not forcibly implant copy prevention devices into television receivers. The FCC should be more concerned about the public good rather than corporate greed. Any broadcasters who operate in the U.S. do so for the benefit of the public, and should not be allowed to absolutely control the content they distribute. Fair-use is a right that must be protected, and is terribly threatened by the spectre of embedded copy-prevention devices.

Please protect my fair-use rights.
